HELLO, GOOD EVENING AND WELCOME

BUSINESS: Small Business Week

Small Business Week is an initiative of the State Government's Small Business Development Council (SBDC) and is about assisting businesses for growth and promoting government and non-government support.

The major activity for the week will be a two-day conference and expo (October 9–10), featuring keynote speakers offering advice on the issues facing small business. The week will include a program of other metropolitan and regional events to support the main conference and expo (October 9–14).

If your business or industry association is interested in holding an event for small business, please call SBDC member Melissa Cadzow.

COMPUTING: Fascinating Cadzow Knowledgebase Articles

Viruses Sent With My Address? If someone says you sent them a virus, relax. It's probably a fake. <http://www.cadzow.com.au/?Article=1553>

Why Buy A Domain Name? A domain name gives your online identity professionalism and convenience. <http://www.cadzow.com.au/?Article=1249>

Fuzzy Display on TFT Monitors: TFT displays look fantastic, but if they're set up wrong, it's all for nothing. <http://www.cadzow.com.au/?Article=1448>

Troubleshooting DSL Connections: ADSL is cheap and reliable, but not without problems. Fortunately most are easy to deal with. <http://www.cadzow.com.au/?Article=1576>

Acrobat File Does Not Print on Laser Printer: Acrobat has a little-known feature to help with PDF printing problems. <http://www.cadzow.com.au/?Article=1482>

CADZOW SOFTWARE: New Stuff

Outlook Express support: Cadzow 2000 12.03.003 and later now supports emailing via Outlook Express; previously you needed "full" Outlook. Try it out: you should be able to save quite a lot of postage if you email invoices and purchase orders instead of sending hardcopies.

Online Help: Beginning in Cadzow 2000 12.02.006, some screens have links to our Knowledgebase on the web. Of course, there are many more articles in the Knowledgebase than there are links in the program, so if you can't find "help" on-screen, check our website. The number of in-built links will grow over time.

Large Display Support: Many more screens in Cadzow 2000 have been improved to use the extra space provided by modern 17", 19" and 15.4" displays. In addition, the balance owing box that floats around now occupies unused space at the edge of the screen if using 1024 × 768 or greater.

Content Manager Shortcuts: Cadzow 2000's Content Manager (12.01.004 and later) application has more keyboard shortcuts to make authoring complex documents even simpler, including inserting typographic characters such as quotes and em dashes.

COMPUTING: Wonderful Vistas

The new version of Windows, previously known as Longhorn, will be called Windows Vista.

Windows Vista will be the "client" or "workstation" edition of Windows, the successor to Windows XP, and released in late 2006. The server version, the successor to Windows Server 2003, will be released in 2007, and will probably be called Windows Server 2007.

Windows 2000 was Windows NT 5.0, Windows XP was Windows NT 5.1, Windows 2003 was Windows NT 5.2 and now Windows Vista is Windows NT 6.0 ... "6", as in "VI", geddit?

If you're confused about the history of Windows, check out the detailed product map at <http://www.levenez.com/windows/history.html>. You'll still be confused, but it's amazing nevertheless.

Speaking of vistas, if you have a broadband connection with plenty of download capacity, and you haven't checked out Google Earth yet, you're simply not wasting enough time. See if you can find your own house at <http://earth.google.com>, or look for cheap real estate at <http://moon.google.com>.

When you've had your fill of a static and out-of-date view of the Earth, try a live! view with NASA TV: go to <http://www.nasa.gov>, click Watch NASA TV, go down to NASA TV via the Internet and click your favourite media player. When there's a mission on, they broadcast it live. There's no point trying to explain to your children or grandchildren how extraordinary this is, they simply won't believe you.

ICE: In Case of Emergency

Why nobody thought of this a long time ago is a bit of a mystery. Early this year a movement started for everyone to store a contact in their mobile called ICE (In Case of Emergency) with a phone number. The principle is that, while people might go out without a wallet, they hardly ever go out without their mobile phone. Although this started in the U.K., and is being promoted post-7/7, there's no doubt it will take off everywhere. <http://www.icecontact.com>

WISDOM, Great Moments In

There's never enough time to do it right first time but there's always enough time to go back and do it again.

At the heart of every large project is a small project trying to get out.

Nothing is impossible for the person who doesn't have to do it.

WISDOM, More Great Moments In

"If you're dumb, surround yourself with smart people. If you're smart, surround yourself with smart people who disagree with you."

— Isaac Jaffe (Robert Guillaume), Sports Night, "The Hungry and the Hunted", by Aaron Sorkin
